

2.

I used 10-fold repeated cross validation against all models. I selected the model which would produce the lowest misclassification error rate to produce the final predictions. I trained this final model on the full training set once determining the best one and then ran it against the test set.